In the e-mail, Mr. Smith said, “ I will start to work in Japan. So I will go to Japan with my family (ア) next month. Will you find a house for us? I have five children. So please find a big house with a large garden.”

My father read the e-mail and said to me, “(イ) It is not easy to find a house like that in Japan. But I will try to find a good house for them.”

Every Sunday my parents went out to find a house for Mr. Smith's family. But they could not find any good houses.

One day one of my father's friends visited us. My father said to him, “I have a friend who lives in New York. He and his family are coming next week. We are looking for a big house with a large garden for (ウ) them. Do you know any good houses for them?” He said to my father, “Yes. I know a good one. I'll call the owner of the house. So please go and see him.”

The next day, we visited the house. It was old. But it had a beautiful garden. My father liked it. He sent an e-mail and told about the good house that evening.

After a few days, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their five children arrived in Japan. When they saw the house, Mr. Smith said, “ We all like it very much. Thank you very much for us.” My parents and I were very happy to hear (エ) that.
